The Apple Campus is the former corporate headquarters of Apple Inc. from 1993 until 2017, when it was largely replaced by Apple Park, though it is still used by Apple as office and lab space. The campus is located at 1 Infinite Loop in Cupertino, California, United States. Its design resembles that of a university, with the buildings arranged around green spaces, similar to a suburban business park.

"Infinite Loop" tells the epic tale of Apple Computer, from the childhood of its co-founders all the way up through Steve Jobs' return to the company and the introduction of the iMac in 1998. Obviously Apple's story since then could probably fill a book in and of itself, but "Infinite Loop" is still an interesting look back at the early days of personal computing.
