Three-Hundred Sayings of the Ascetics of the Orthodox Church

Definitions. People have conceived of "Celtic Christianity" in different ways at different times. Writings on the topic frequently say more about the time in which they originate than about the historical state of Christianity in the early medieval Celtic-speaking world, and many notions are now discredited in modern academic discourse. One particularly prominent feature ascribed to Celtic ...

One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. The average pay back then was about one denarius a day, so fifty denarii is almost two months wages, whereas five hundred is almost two years worth. Both owed a debt to a creditor, but one debt was ten times larger. The problem was the neither one could repay their ...
